I have two files: ClassA.java public class ClassA { public static String classMethod() { return "test"; } } ClassB.java public class ClassB{ public static void main(String[] args) { ClassA.classMethod(); } But it gives me error: C:\Users\jaan\Desktop\mainClass\src\ClassA.java:11: error: cannot find symbol ^ symbol: method classMethod() location: class ClassA 1 error How can I use class.method() in other class? Thanks A: You should declare static method as public static. static method is called in other class by using its class name and then it's dot notation. If you want to call the method without using ClassA 82157476af
